

to the FCC:

I note that Sinclair Broadcasting is willing to air a movie which is purported to be an anti-Kerry film, funded by the GOP, and which will pre-empt regular TV programming.

I am absolutely against this effort by the GOP to interfere with my right to choose during this very contention election year.

I voluntarily paid to see Fahrenheit 911, and would not have volunteered to pay to see the movie on InDemand, again, although we have the service. Volunteering to pay to watch a movie is a far cry from being forced to have a movie come under my roof; I endorse censure within the confines of my own home, by me for the good of my children, but deplore the thought of the US Government telling me that one propaganda movie trumps another.

I, along with thousands of others, will boycott Sinclair Broadcasting, will write to their advertisers, and will vote Blue, now just because I have had it with the Red. Let's be one nation under God, one nation which appreciates the other's right to vote freely, and one nation which survives the current storm no thanks to the current media.

Sincerely,
Margaret Sharp
